In spite of the current overwhelming media attention to "homelessness" and large amounts of funding allocated to dealing with it, there is a strong need to create solid knowledge base and analysis of the situation in Hawai‘i - not least a need to hear from the people on the ground: the "homeless" themselves and people who work with them on a daily basis.

The goal of this forum is to contribute to fulfilling the information gap, to learn from experience, to inspire research and action, and to help increase quality of life and respect for "homeless" families and individuals.
